Synopsis

Matthew, a young painter and expert coach pigeons, sold 42 copies to "El Pinto", a major drug cartel in Tijuana, who will use them to transport cocaine. The trip was unsuccessful and "Pinto" will torture Matthew's family if he does not recover the money. In desperation, Matthew decides to kidnap the sacred image of the Virgin of Guadalupe Basilica, which carries a spiritual chaos in the country.

About the director

Alan Jonsson Gavica grew up in Mazatlán, Sinaloa, Mexico. Jonsson studied film production, film direction and scriptwriting at various film schools in US, as U.C.L.A., and Loyola Miramont where he wrote and directed two projects: the documentary, "Nobody's That Bad" (1992), and a short film, "Kung-Fu Fighter" (1993). He also worked as an apprentice in international film productions like "K9", "The Grifters", "Wagon East", "Mr. Jones", "Medicine Man" and "Romeo and Juliet", among others.

In 2002, Jonsson established Esfera Films Entertainment, which produced his first film "Morenita-The Scandal", which received awards in several film festivals worldwide. He has also directed TV commercials and has won several awards in the advertising industry. Jonsson is currently developing his next feature film, entitled "La Carga".
